

POGIL at a Mission-Driven University: Broadening the Reach of Student-Centered Pedagogies

Jenny Loertscher, Department of Chemistry, Seattle University, Seattle, WA

Ignatian pedagogy (IP) engages and stretches faculty

- Improve teaching and learning
- Engage more deeply with mission

Thanks to Seattle University Center for Faculty Development and Center for Jesuit Education

ALC: NO.

Faculty development workshops

- 3 sessions, 3 hours each
- Interdisciplinary
- teaching approach

Participants required to implement new

Element of phatian PedagogyCharacteristics of IP ElementAnalogous in POGILContextPersonal and social realities of students and teacherStudent-centered; teacher engages as facilitatorExperienceActively engaged teaching and learningGuided inquiry activities; process skills developmentReflectionThoughtful reconsideration of new ideasSelf-assessment developmentActionNext steps resulting from learningFocus on workplace skills developmentEvaluationTracking evolution and growthTracking progress towards content and process objectives of students and teacherengages as facilitatorExperienceActively engaged teaching and learningGuided inquiry activities; process skills developmentReflectionThoughtful reconsideration of new ideasSelf-assessmentActionNext steps resulting from learningFocus on workplace skills developmentEvaluationTracking evolution and growthTracking progress towards content and process		Analogous in POGIL
and learningprocess skills developmentReflectionThoughtful reconsideration of new ideasSelf-assessment of new ideasActionNext steps resulting from learningFocus on workplace skills developmentEvaluationTracking evolution and growthTracking progress towards content and process	Context
ActionNext steps resulting from learningFocus on workplace skills developmentEvaluationTracking evolution and growthTracking progress towards content and process	Experience learningdevelopmentEvaluationTracking evolution and growthTracking progress towards content and process	Reflection	Self-assessment growth content and process	Action	-
	Evaluation	content and process

